

Classroom Registry

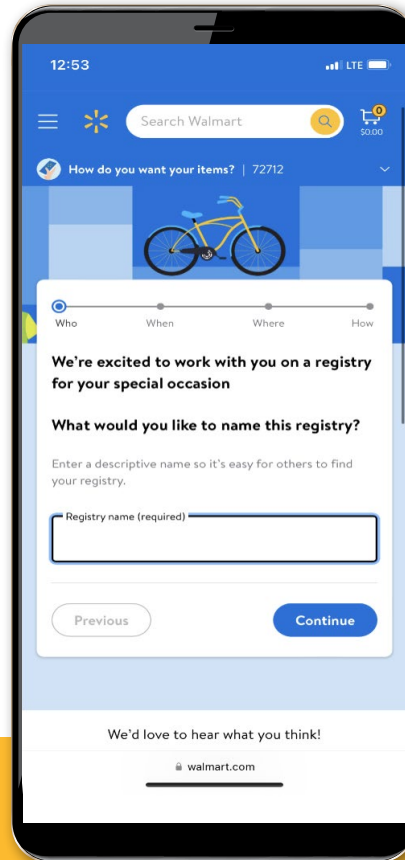

Walmart has a new way to help teachers and students have an amazing school year!

Walmart is introducing a new feature specifically designed for teachers like you! This feature will allow teachers to share their completed registries with friends, family, parents, and anyone who would want to contribute so the recipients know what to purchase. It is estimated that teachers in the US spend an average of $500 of their own money annually on school supplies.

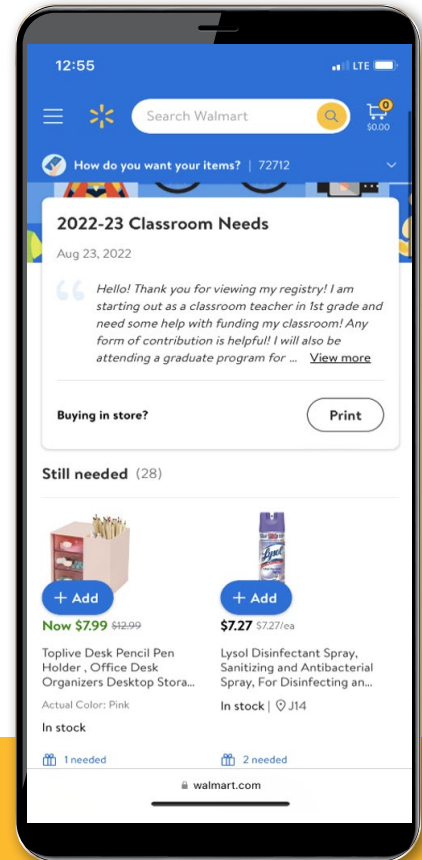

This initiative not only benefits teachers, but also empowers parents to actively support their child's school, allowing teachers to unlock their teaching imaginations without resource limitations and fostering a collaborative environment.

This is the first page you will see when creating your registry. It will be on this web address* under Classroom Supplies on the category page.

Then you will be prompted to answer questions regarding Who, When, Where, and How to create the registry.

Finally, this is an example of how the registry will appear when finalized.
