

National PTA provides a wide array of accessible, engaging and educational programs that inspire, recognize and impact all students and their families. These FREE or low-cost programs are designed in best practice for effective family engagement to support the physical, social-emotional and learning needs of students while having fun!

In-Person and At-Home program models are available to give PTA leaders flexibility to best meet the unique needs of their school community.

At-Home models are divided into three delivery methods: Real-Time, Self-Paced and Tech-Free.

REAL-TIME

The Real-Time method allows for live, virtual events to give families a chance to participate 'together' while online.

SELF-PACED

The Self-Paced method occurs at home, and each family facilitates the activities by themselves, at their own pace within a designated timeframe.

TECH-FREE

Families do not need access to the internet or devices to participate in the Tech-Free program method, allowing more accessibility.
